

BACCARAT RESULTS DISPLAY SYSTEM

The all new ACES Baccarat Results Display System will be launched at this year's Australasian Gaming Expo to be held in Sydney later in August. The system features dealer operated table keypads which input game result information. This result information is relayed to a monitor positioned at the table displaying the complete results of the current shoe, and showing those results in the traditional player scoring format. Additional table and game information is also shown on the monitor, including; table limits, shoe #, shoe start time, total hands played, etc. etc. A scrolling message facility is also available and can be used to provide general information, marketing messages, or any other communication.

The “BRD System” is ideally suited to VIP rooms where special facilities are offered to premium players as additional “Player Stations” are positioned at the entrance to the room or playing area. These player stations consist of a monitor displaying the results of each table, i.e. one monitor for every table, each showing live result information. Below the results monitors are touch screen control stations which enable a player to select a table and print the results of the current shoe up to the current hand. A scorecard is printed, providing the player with an up to the minute scorecard for that particular table, printed in the same format as the players mark their standard scorecards. The player can then move to the table and commence playing with an up to the minute scorecard....

The system is available in English, Chinese and Thai versions
